Antioch Meets Student from Ecuador

The AFS welcome carpet was officially rolled out for Diana Marie Stagg at an Open House at the Walker Lyons home on Winsor Drive Sunday. Diana will be living with the Lyons during her year in Antioch.

Approximately 70 adults and students met Diana and were charmed by the young lady from Guayaquil, Ecuador. They found her easy to talk to, and she gave her guests a special treat when she sang several songs in Spanish accompanying herself on the guitar.

Diana says she is happy to be in Antioch and anxious to start her senior year at Antioch Community High School. She is a little nervous about the "newness" of everything, she says, but AFS students have assured her that they and the entire student body will be behind her.

Diana is especially anxious to learn to speak English fluently. Her father, who is a banana exporter, is a linguist, and she is interested in nursing or becoming a linguist.

The American Field Service, who sponsors Diana's presence in Antioch, reports that about half of their financial goal was reached by selling Dairy Queen products donated by T. E. Cardwell and packaged by AFS students and adults. The current money raising project is the saving of RC Cola and Diet-Rite "Save-a-Seal" bottle caps. High School students can bring them to school; others can contact Gary Strahan at 395-1333.

Woman Killed In Car-Truck Collision

Mrs. Mary J. Hazel, 60, of Cedar Crest Drive, Petite Lake, was killed instantly Friday, Sept. 2, when the car in which she was riding was struck by a truck. Mrs. Hazel was thrown from the car and run over by the wheels of an oil truck.

The crash occurred at about 12:15 p.m. at Route 59 and Lakeview Road. The car in which Mrs. Hazel was riding was driven by her grandson, 16-year-old Andrew Hazel, also of 864 Cedar Crest Drive.

Hazel said his brakes failed when he tried to stop. Deputy Harry Robin said he checked the brakes of the car after the collision and they were faulty. Both Hazel and the truck driver were bruised in the collision.

Hazel said he was driving east on Lakeview Drive and his brakes failed at the Route 59 stop sign. The truck, driven by Kenneth Morrow, 25, of St. Louis, carried 8,400 gallons of white gas, and was northbound on Route 59. The Hazel car slid into the intersection in front of the truck.

Trying to avoid the collision, Morrow said he swerved to the east side of the road. The truck struck the right front of the Hazel auto, throwing Mrs. Hazel out onto the pavement. The truck then struck a culvert and tipped over.

Gas from the trailer truck spilled onto the roadway, causing traffic to be detoured for some time. Lake Villa firemen washed the gas from the road.

Mrs. Hazel is survived by one son, LeRoy, of 864 Cedar Crest Drive, Petite Lake.

AARP to See Films at Meeting

The first regular meeting of the fall season for the AARP (American Association of Retired Persons), Antioch chapter, will be held Tuesday, Sept. 13, at the Antioch Savings & Loan building.

In addition to the regular meeting two short films will be shown by an Illinois Bell representative. They are "Slips & Falls" and "Decorating Unlimited."

Scouts Start Fall Roundup

The annual Roundup Program for the Northwest District Boy Scouts of America went into action September 1st and will continue until December 31.

During this four-month period, special efforts and emphasis are placed on bringing Scouting to public attention and making it available to every eligible boy and adult in the District. The Roundup was really started at the August 17th kick-off meeting, where more than 250 adult Scout Leaders received unit kits and verbal instructions packed full of suggestions and information designed to make the job of Scout Leadership easier and more satisfying.

The two District committees most concerned in the Roundup are the Organization and Extension, under the chairmanship of Norm Shaper, and the Leadership Training committee which is headed up by Ray Atwood.

The function of the Organization and Extension committee is to organize new scouting units and help to strengthen and enlarge the present units. This is all a part of a national "Breakthrough for Youth" program with a theme of "Follow the Rugged Road to Adventure, Join the Scouts."

The Leadership Training committee has the responsibility of providing a training program for all the adult Scout Leaders of the Northwest District. The strength and security of a Scouting unit, according to Atwood, lies in well-trained leadership.

PM&L Schedule Try-Outs for Next Production

Palette, Masque and Lyre Theatre Group have announced that try-outs for their next presentation, "Once Upon a Mattress," will be held at the PM&L Theater on Main St. in Antioch Sunday, Sept. 11, from 2:30 to 5 p.m. and at 8 p.m.

The musical comedy will be presented the first two weekends in November. Anyone interested in joining the cast or crew for this play who can not be present Sunday is asked to contact Ken Smouse at 395-1333.

Police Get Strange Call

"Honest, I'm not drunk, but there's a monkey on the fence in my back yard."

That was the call the Antioch police department received at about 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Being Labor Day weekend, a traditional time for festivity, it would be excusable if the Antioch police had had a moment of disbelief as to the sobriety of the caller. However, Patrolman Fred Elam went to the address given, at Spafford and Osmond Ave., and found that there was, indeed, a monkey.

Furthermore, it was a very agile monkey, and Fred discovered he couldn't catch her. So he called for help, and Harold Mason and Art Wertz joined the chase. They finally snared the animal with a noose used in catching stray dogs. She was taken to the police station, and put in a cage. So far as we know, she was not looked for disturbing the peace.

And there she remains, much to the discomfiture of Garnett Oddsen, girl police clerk. "She smells," is the frequently reiterated complaint of both Garnett and Police Chief Heick.

No one has appeared to claim the little wanderer. If she isn't claimed soon, says Heick, they'll give her to a zoo—they hope. "We wouldn't dare give her away to a private party, because of the possibility of disease," he said. "We don't know where she came from, or what she may have been exposed to."

Grass Fires Plague Antioch Fire Dept.

Grass fires have been plaguing the Antioch Fire Department this past week.

The fire fighters were called out twice Sunday to extinguish a fire at Ackerman's dump near Grass Lake. Another grass fire near Sequit

McClory, Percy Join Forces For Campaign

Congressman Robert McClory and Charles Percy have set up joint campaign headquarters at 602 North Milwaukee Avenue in Libertyville.

Congressman McClory is a candidate for re-election to the U.S. House of Representatives in the November elections. Charles Percy is the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate.

Volunteers will staff the McClory headquarters which will coordinate the Percy-for-Senate and the McClory re-election campaigns in the 12th Congressional District (Lake and McHenry counties and Hanover and Barrington townships in Cook County).

A formal opening at which Congressman McClory and U.S. Senate-nominee Percy will serve as joint hosts is scheduled for Sunday, September 11, from 4 to 6 p.m.

Water Treatment Clearing Mains

If you'd like to see an example of how the Aquadene Water treatment being used in the Antioch water system works, you might stop-in at the village hall and ask Clarence Shultis to show you Exhibit A, two jars prepared by Charles Mapletorpe.

Each jar contains a nail. Just like on TV, the water in one jar contains Aquadene. The other is left as it was before Aquadene.

The jar containing the Aquadene remains clear; the other one is full of rust from the rusting nail.

The Aquadene treatment is continuing, and Mapletorpe reports that several of the mains have been flushed. "I never saw the water quite that rusty, so it must be removing the mineral deposits," he reported.

Take Action on Drivers Licenses

Secretary of State Paul Powell announced the following actions by the Drivers License Division of his office affecting residents of the Antioch area: the license of Patrick T. Harmon, R 2, Antioch, revoked for driving while intoxicated; the license of Donald E. Gustafson, 906 Hillside Ave., Antioch, suspended following three violations.

Calif. Subdivision Installs Officers

Officers of the California Subdivision Improvement Association for the next year were elected at a meeting held at the Antioch Savings & Loan Sept. 4 at 1 p.m. The new officers were installed by Fred Walpole.

New officers of the association are John Mulac, president; Mrs. Lois Matthews, secretary; Robert Jonas, treasurer. Directors are Ed Hofkamp, 1st Ave.; Don Radtke, 2nd Ave.; John Bednarzewicz, 3rd Ave.; John Mulac, 4th Ave.; Rose Votank, 5th Ave.; Lewis Reban and Mrs. Milton Brozik, 6th Ave.; Carl Veselsky, 7th Ave.; John Mulac, Marshall.

Oakland PTA To Hold First Meeting Of School Year

"Traffic Safety" will be the main feature of the first program of the school year at the Oakland Grade School PTA meeting next Monday, Sept. 12, at 8 p.m.

Captain Harold Scheskie, on leave of absence from the sheriff's office, will be the guest speaker.

The new principal of Oakland Grade School, Harold Romaine, will be introduced at the meeting, as will the teachers.

Refreshments will be served by the eighth grade parents.

Harbor Sunday called out the department.

A grass fire in the slough east of Main St. Tuesday, Sept. 6, was quickly controlled by the fire department.

Injured and Sick Aided by Squad

The Antioch Rescue Squad, as anticipated, had more than the usual number of calls over Labor Day weekend.

However, injuries from traffic accidents seemed to be at a minimum in the Antioch area.

August 31, Harold G. Noble, 20, of Mundelein was taken to St. Therese Hospital.

August 30, Ann Hoffman, Channel Lake, was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital.

August 31, Dan Abear, 16, Antioch, was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital.

August 31, Jerry Ensign, injured in a car accident at Route 173 and Savage Road, was taken to Victory Memorial Hospital.

Sept. 2, Robert Mortensen, 45, of Antioch, was taken to St. Therese Hospital.

Property Lines Create Legal Tangle for Board

The village of Antioch, apparently, owns half of the building which houses Willowdale Dairy and half of the lot on which it is built. These facts came out of a survey made to determine the line separating the village park and the Dairy.

Attorney Edward Jacobs told the board that the legal description of the property sold by the Schroeder family included only half the building. The Schroeders later deeded to the village the parcel of land which is now the Township Library and village park, including "what is left of Lot 5 not previously sold". This is the lot on which the dairy is built.

Owner Sam Lerner has requested that the village board give him title to the land he assumed he bought at the time he purchased the dairy. Attorney Jacobs said the board could not legally surrender rights to the land, but could put the property up for sale, with a legal notice for bds.

The legal line between the two properties has for some time been a matter of controversy between the Dairy and the village board, as has the untidy condition of the dairy property. The board gave notice to the dairy early this spring that discarded refrigerators, etc. must be removed and the general mess cleaned up, and the dairy complied.

NOT ENOUGH LIQUOR LICENSES

William "Bud" Holtz asked the board to issue a Class A liquor license in his name, so that he could operate a tavern at his property on Main St. Casey's Tap, which has moved to Broadway, was formerly operated in his building. Holtz said the property was unsuitable for any other use.

Holtz said that although he had been told no license was available, one would have been under the former ordinance. The new ordinance, providing for one Class A license to each 800 people of the total population, was passed in February.

Mayor Ray Toft said a license had not been available at the time the ordinance was passed, and turned the matter over to the license committee for study.

MORE DROP BOXES
Mayor Toft read a letter from Postmaster Joe Wolf requesting permission to install two more drop boxes. One of the new mail boxes would be installed between the Jewel Tea and the State Bank on Lake St., the other in the Antioch Shopping plaza. The board approved the installation.

John Dupre asked that the sidewalk in front of the Coral Arms apartments be repaired. Trustee Vern Barnstable said that work had been completed on sidewalks near the high school, and that those near the Scout House and Library would be replaced next. If the money available would cover the expense, the sidewalks at Coral Arms would be next to be fixed.

The board approved payment of $160 to R. E. Allen Associates for surveying of easements through the La-Plant Industrial sites for water and sewer lines.

Superintendent of Public Works Edgar Simonsen asked that the board approve the re-surfacing of McMillen Rd., from Quaker Industries north driveway to Route 173, at a cost of $3,000. The board approved the work.

Simonsen also asked approval to apply a prime and seal coat on Anita St. from Sequit Ave. to Depot St. With construction going on along the road, re-surfacing would be impractical, he said.

The grade crossing at Ida St. must be raised, Simonsen reported, before the time set by the Illinois Commerce Commission had elapsed. The road has to be improved before crossing lights will be installed. The time limit for progress on the improvements had been set at a date early in January.

The board instructed Simonsen to bring the road up to grade and apply seal coat, with blacktopping to be done next spring.

NO NIGHT PARKING
Trustee Irving Walsh read a letter from a resident complaining about all-night parking on Highland Ave. which blocked the road. Members of the board agreed that street parking created problems throughout the village, both for traffic and for sweeping the streets and clearing snow. The attorney was instructed to draw up an ordinance prohibiting parking on the street except in the business area, from 2 a.m. to 5 a.m.

"EXTRAS" REDUCED
Village engineer Frank Angelotti presented an adjusted final bill on the Anita St. sewer line. At last month's board meeting, the board protested "extras" on the bill which ran the total price considerably over the contract price.

Angelotti reported that J. R. Meyer Co., the contractor, had reduced the price of the paying from $1435 to $717.50. Trustee Irving Walsh pointed out that this was still $1,300 more than the contract price. The board approved the final payment to Meyer Co. Attorney Jacobs instructed engineer Angelotti that from now on, extra expenditures of over $100 must be approved by the board as a whole, unless it involved an emergency decision in the field.

Engineer Angelotti also reported that the cost of the per front foot. The board approved a resolution that anyone hooking into that sewer line at any time must pay the front foot cost.

Chairman of the Police committee Art Meierdick reported that it had been suggested that flashing warning lights be installed at North Ave. and Main St. The stop sign on the northwest corner, he said, was set too far to the side of the road and is not clearly visible. As a result, there have been many accidents at that corner.

Meierdick was instructed to contact the State Highway department in regard to the lights, as Main St. (Route 83) is a state highway.

Mayor Toft reported that the village again has 24 delinquent water accounts. Village Clerk Clarence Shultis was instructed to send shut-off notices to all whose accounts were overdue.

is no time for them that day," Heick said.

With the exception of Waukegan and Highland Park, who have full time attorneys, other cities and villages must pay to have their attorney appear in court on a traffic ticket where the fine may be only $5.00. The attorneys usually charge $50. Economics dictate that the case should not be prosecuted.

If the Chief of Police were allowed to act as prosecutor of misdemeanors, Post concluded, justice could be better served. "The word is out among our smart young set," Post says. "Plead not guilty, and you are almost sure to beat the rap, whether it is running a stop sign, eluding police, speeding, drinking as a minor, peeling rubber or any number of offenses that seem to be 'in' this year."

Post asks interested citizens to sit in any one of our magistrates' courts for a day. First, he says, you are entertained, then shocked, and finally, sick at the dispensing of justice.

Post gives examples of some of the cases he observed in one day in court. In an accident involving injuries, the policeman testified that the skid marks indicated the ticketed motorist was in the wrong lane at the time of the accident. The defendant admitted swerving to the left to attempt to avoid the collision, putting him in the wrong lane. Evidence presented by police concerning accidents is usually ignored as being hear-say evidence. They did not actually see the accident. Verdict—Not Guilty.

Charge: Running a stop sign. The young driver and his passenger both swore that they had stopped. The policeman said they did not. Two against one. Not Guilty.

Charge: Fleeing police and speeding. The man pleaded not guilty. A deputy sheriff testified he chased the man approximately 3 miles, with siren and flashing red lights. At times, he was within 200 feet of the fleeing car at speeds to 80 mph in a 50 mph zone. The defendant swore he was not aware of being chased and stopped when he saw the squad. This all happened at almost three in the morning.

Questioning the accuracy of the police car's speedometer, the deputy reported that all speedometers are checked monthly, but could not give the date his instrument was checked. The verdict was guilty. Speeding, $20 and costs. Fleeing police, $50 and costs.

Post reports that a recent ruling by the New Hampshire Supreme Court upheld the rights of specified police officers to act as prosecutors.

Post Asks for Ruling on Police As Prosecutors

The Lake County Safety Commission has asked the Attorney General of Illinois for a ruling on whether a Chief of Police can act as prosecuting attorney in our magistrate's courts.

Bob Post, chairman of the Safety Commission, noted that many cases are dismissed in magistrate's court because of lack of prosecution. Under the judicial reform in Illinois, only an attorney can act as prosecutor. A policeman can only appear as a witness. He cannot ask questions, or volunteer information, unless questioned by defense or prosecuting attorneys.

Antioch Police Chief Jack Heick said he felt sure that most police chiefs of small municipalities would agree that it would be a big help in law enforcement if they could act as prosecutors. "This was the system when local magistrates heard the cases. The police now find a great many of their cases dismissed, even though the arresting officer has spent his free time, without pay, to appear in court."

Heick said lack of communication between the police and courts is another problem. He had spent the entire day Tuesday waiting to appear before the Grand Jury, only to be told that he would have to return the next day. "This was on my own time. There must be some better way of scheduling cases so that police officers will not have to spend all day waiting to give evidence, and then find there

Apply Now for 1967 Plates

Motorists who wish to retain their present license numbers for next year are reminded that the deadline for their applications to be in the office of the Secretary of State is September 30.

Application blanks for 1967 motor vehicle license plates are now available at various outlets. Supplies of the blanks have been delivered to car dealers, currency exchanges, notaries public, county clerks, newspaper offices and some banks.

The request for reassignment of the same number should be stated in the remarks section of the blanks. All information requested on the blanks is important, Secretary of State Paul Powell said. Applications not completely filled out will have to be returned to the applicant for the missing information, causing delay in processing the application.

Secretary Powell said the most frequently omitted items of information are the zip code and the township.

The Good Old Days

Dissatisfaction with things as they are, and the desire to improve, are the mainsprings of progress. But while we're criticizing, viewing with alarm and extolling the virtues of the good old days, it would be well to sit back and think over the good things that the times have brought.

Education—a continually rising expense, not enough teachers, student drop outs, or maybe you think it just isn't good enough. The expense has always been high; there has never been enough teachers, particularly in war times; the student who now drops out of high school at sixteen years of age, is a counterpart of the boy who quit at the sixth grade level 30 years ago. As to the quality of education, if it could be better in places, it's far superior to the education that was available in those good old days.

Medicine—the strides are enormous. Measles, the child-killed, need no longer be feared. The same with polio. Before penicillin, the man with pneumonia or a ruptured appendix was in grave danger. Now, death from these causes is unusual.

Not enough doctors or hospitals? They were fewer, in those good old days, but few people sought medical help unless they were gravely ill. They couldn't afford it.

And people. Are they really as immoral, as greedy, as selfish, as some would have us believe? Most of the people we know are just going along, working hard, like their parents did, trying to make things better for their children, and worrying about all the terrible things happening in the world today, just as their parents did.

Those terrible juvenile delinquents? Seems like most of the kids we know are awfully nice kids. Hard working, honest, busy, helping at all sorts of good causes. Better dressed than their parents were at the same age, and a little more sophisticated, but still shy, still afraid they won't measure up to their friend's requirements. Sure, there's more juvenile delinquents than there used to be. There's more people, too.

Yes, we have lots of terrible problems. War—nothing new about that, except the ever-present threat of the atom bomb. The civil rights struggle—this nation started with a struggle for men's rights, and probably the people of Civil War times were sure that the nation would never recover from that blow.

Lots more big problems, too. And lots of earnest, honorable people working to solve them, or alleviate them. And when they're solved, we'll have new ones to take their place. And with each one that's solved, the world becomes a little better place to live in.

Courthouse Notebook

BY LOU DURKIN

It's a frightening thing to find your hometown in a state of siege as existed for a few nights in Waukegan last week.

A whole section of the County seat was cordoned off by state police, deputy sheriffs, Waukegan police and volunteers from neighboring communities.

Barriades set up at intersections separated the rest of the city from the sector which had been torn by violence and vandalism over the weekend and it was sometimes difficult to tell if the barriers had been erected to keep residents of the area inside, or intruders out of the area.

It wasn't hard to stretch the imagination to liken the barriades to the Berlin Wall which has slashed that great German community into two separate entities.

The streets in the cordoned sector were deserted and dark, but the first night of the curfew there was a tinging of brooding bitterness and hatred that flowed freely across the barriers and touched the bystander and would-be participant in rioting equally.

Prompt, uncompromising action by Waukegan Mayor Robert Sabonjian and the police under Chief Walter Riley bottled up the violence, but Waukegan continues to live under the cloud of fear.

The violent riots in Waukegan have left enduring marks in the community which will endure long after the windows have been replaced and the scars of violence erased from the buildings.

People who expressed sympathy for the civil rights demonstrators as being within their rights to seek redress for grievances, imagined or real, feel betrayed and no longer speak up in defense of the civil rights advocates.

A housewife looking out her window and seeing some eight or nine year old Negro boys climbing a fence no longer sees a couple of boys having fun, but a deliberate act of defiance.

Residents of small communities outside Waukegan speak of vigilantes and view every careful of Negroes heading out for a day of fishing as the scouts or outriders for a Negro invasion.

Community leaders can communicate with each other and promise peace and understanding, but who will communicate with the hot heads, the bigots, and the haters who have no goal except violence and anarchy?

Herbert (Hub) Stern, Democratic candidate for Congress,

Your Congressman Reports...

By Cong. Robert McClary

The subject of prayer in the public schools is back with us again. This time it appears in the form of a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution sponsored by Senator Everett Dirksen, Republican leader, and 47 other Members of the United States Senate.

The Dirksen proposal would amend the First Amendment of the Federal Constitution which provides simply that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof. . . . This language—a vital provision of the Bill of Rights—was described in 1802 by Thomas Jefferson as "a wall of separation between church and state."

Senator Dirksen and his 19 Democratic and 28 Republican colleagues who have joined in sponsoring the prayer amendment in the Senate, are endeavoring to overcome the effect of two decisions of the United States Supreme Court. In the case of Engel v. Vitale the Court held that the required recitation of a prayer prescribed by the New York Board of Regents violated the First Amendment to the Constitution. A similar ruling was handed down in Abington Township v. Schempp even though the prayer involved in that case consisted merely of sections of the Bible agreed upon by the local school authorities. In both cases parents who objected could have their children excused from the prayer or Bible reading sessions.

But in both cases the religious interludes involved a measure of compulsion—an freedom and a definite effort to combine religious teaching and public education.

The essence of Senator Dirksen's proposal is freedom. It would coerce no one. On the other hand it would permit local public school authorities—if they choose—to open the school day with prayer. The same freedom would apply to other public bodies.

Many persons—including a majority of the religious leaders who testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee—expressed opposition to is faced with a tough fight in his bid to unseat Cong. Robert McClary who is bidding for his third term as U.S. Representative, but the Highland Park gives every indication that he relishes the fight.

Stern will be developing his campaign along two basic lines; first a determined missionary effort to convince Republican voters that he is more cognizant of business problems than his opponent, and second, the development of "gut" issues that will reach the average voter.

A businessman with an active interest in several firms as well as a lawyer, Stern has "met a payroll" and while he and profit-oriented Republican businessmen may not always agree on solutions they are able to communicate on problems affecting the business community.

In seeking to unseat Cong. McClary, Stern has to convince the voters that there is good reason for replacing the incumbent who has moved steadily from State Representative to State Senator to Congressman, no easy task.

Now that school is open again and school buses loaded with youngsters are back on the highways added caution is needed on the part of motorists.

It might be a good time, too, for the bus drivers to use a little more discretion in making their stops.

It is disconcerting, at least, to swing around a curve or zoom over the crest of a hill on the highway and suddenly find a school bus stopped on the road discharging or picking-up school kids.

The bus drivers should stop far enough from a curve or hill to give drivers plenty of time to stop.

School Daze

Even though summer isn't officially over, it seems that way with the start of school. Some Moms and Dads are saying Hip Hip Hooray, while others are sheding a few tears as they watch their child board a bus or walk down the street. Down deep I think school makes everyone feel a little melancholy.

Antioch police got word there was a prowler around town. After a brief investigation they captured it. . . . it turned out to be a monkey.

other credits payable only in dollars. Meanwhile, instead of working to rebuild our gold reserves, we appear to be seeking something other than gold with which to finance the growing balance of payments deficit.

Of course, there is no indication that France or any of the other creditor nations are interested in any new monetary medium. It appears that gold will continue to be the measure for determining international liquidity—and it would be the height of folly to assume that a paper money substitute can replace gold. The international deficit problem may not yield as readily to a global version of the "new economics."

Instead, we may soon face a sharp retrenchment in our international commitments including reductions in foreign aid. Global Utopias will have to yield to the discipline of the economics as understood and practiced by the rest of the world—including the old-fashioned practice of discharging debts—and not simply funding (or financing) them.

As Dr. Melchior-Palyi, the noted economist, declared: "The implied assumption was that foreign debts, like the national debt, never have to be paid."

The penalty for nonpayment could be the destruction of the American dollar itself—

The average American feels quite inadequate when confronted with such subjects as "balance of payments," "international liquidity," and "gold reserve ratios." And so he goes blithely along with the full expectation that the Gross National Product (GNP) will reach another new high this year—and that the baffling problems of our nation's finances will somehow take care of themselves.

However, the current crisis in the British pound sterling coupled with our own inflation spiral, have raised questions in the minds of many and should encourage some very sober thinking in the United States Treasury Department concerning the condition of the American dollar.

The "new economics" which have dominated our national fiscal policy in recent years have resulted in planned deficits and the highest internal debt in our history. With no apparent intention of correcting the situation, the only aim seems to be to find new ways to finance the growing debt.

Long-term federal bonds within statutory interest limits are no longer saleable at the maximum allowable interest of 4½%. This is particularly true with inflation operating at a rate in excess of 4%. Short-term borrowing from the Federal Reserve Banks is itself inflationary as it merely results in increasing bank deposits—or "monetizing" the debt.

And, if this were not enough, the problem of our international debt poses an even more serious dilemma. Our balance of payments deficit (excess of capital outflow) continues despite numerous artificial barriers (i.e. 15% interest equalization tax) and voluntary restraints. The result has been a loss of Treasury gold stocks from almost $23 billion in 1958 to less than $14 billion in March 1966.

Foreign dollar holdings (also redeemable in gold) exceed the amount of our Treasury gold reserves. Consequently, if payment were demanded on these holdings by creditor nations, the value of the dollar would be destroyed. The deterrent to such demand for payment is the probable loss of their U.S. investments as well as

Antioch, Ill. 60002

Dear Editor:

We are deeply grateful to you for your help and your interest in our recent Chicken Dinner Fund-Raising Festival. The fine article in your paper truly added to the success of our day. And it was a success in spite of the early morning downpour.

God was very good to us. He kept the rain away from our grounds from about 10:30 a.m. through the remainder of the day while the entire area of the surrounding neighborhood suffered storms. This unfavorable weather did not keep our wonderful friends away, however, for 5,686 of them came for dinner and waited very patiently in line to be served.

Our new bar-b-que pits were very helpful and economical, too. Our cook said that much less charcoal was needed this year because of the aluminum composition of them. They are very fine.

The two large 40x100-foot tents proved themselves worthy in every way. They provided especially good protection from the rain and later from the sun, so we could go right on with our plans to serve our dinner regardless of the weather.

We needed many more workers, but a great number of our faithful friends came to help in spite of the weather. Our booths opened for business around 12:30 p.m., and all went well from then on. We had nine additional booths on our grounds this year, eight of them new Game Booths, and the other one was devoted to men's and ladies' toiletries which were very generously donated by the Helen Curtis Co., of Chicago. Fifty cartons of hair spray, shaving lotion, cologne, cosmetics, and hair care products were given to us by that company.

The Navy and the WAVES from Great Lakes Training Station were with us again this year. 26 sailors and 16 WAVES volunteered their services in our food preparation dept. and in our dining area in the tents. Somehow the morale of all of our workers improves when the Navy arrives—they do have a wonderful effect upon everyone! Special Police from Kenosha with their fine "walkie-talkie" equipment helped guard the grounds and assisted in keeping order on our parking lots.

Arrangements had been made to have music and entertainment on the grounds throughout the day, but because of the weather, two of these groups' services had to be cancelled. Folk singing by William Sokoloski, of Bristol, Wis., and music by Craig Lanier's group from Wildwood and Waukegan, Ill., helped a great deal in providing a happy atmosphere during the afternoon.

Our guest artist, Mr. Palmer Martino, of Kenosha, Wis., assisted our Sister artist Mary Scholastica, in drawing portraits of our festival friends. However, Sister offered a new idea this year in her work. She sketched the young girls in the Benedictine headress, so they now know how they will look as Religious. Of course, portraits were also drawn of them in their lay clothes.

Our Bakery Booth experienced a little handicap, but had no difficulty in selling out completely. The Benedictine Fathers who make our bread for this booth lost the use of their miller's stone in an accident shortly before Festival time. Because they, themselves, grind the wheat that goes into their bread, the breaking of their stone proved somewhat disastrous for all concerned. The new one arrived before our Festival date but not in time to allow Brother George time in which to fill our order for 1,500 loaves. We do want to apologize to all of you who were unable to obtain bread this year, and know that you will understand why we were able to supply just 450 loaves of it.

Everything else went well, we think, but we certainly could not have had this successful Day without the help of all of our wonderful friends and without the fine publicity you gave us. We cannot repay you in a material way, but we assure you that your kindness will not be forgotten. Please allow us to show our gratitude by continuing to remember you and your loved ones in our daily prayers, asking Our Lord to reward you and prosper your work.

We hope that you were able to be with us on August 21 and that you enjoyed the day. If other plans kept you away, please accept this invitation to stop for a visit at any time in the future.

Many, many thanks again,
Sincerely and gratefully,
Sister Helen Marie, OSB
and the Sisters of Benet Lake

"What can I do about these rude sales calls?"

When your problem is a rude or overly insistent salesperson who won't take your "no" for an answer, just hang up.

Many people who sell by phone, of course, do so in a courteous and considerate manner. And they often have really good buys to offer.

We're trying hard to help businesses use the phone without offending.

We offer all interested business people free information and training. We suggest they call at times most likely to be convenient for you and to call only bona-fide prospects. We remind them that offensive calls make enemies, not sales.

But some salespeople continue to make annoying or "pushy" calls. So if you do receive an offensive sales call... hang up.

Just hang up!

Hoover Comments on Recent Court Rulings

There has been much "wailing and gnashing of teeth" in some law enforcement circles lately in response to developments in the criminal law, particularly confessions, interrogations, search and seizure, and various rights of the accused.

Historically, American courts have assumed the responsibility of assuring that governmental power is not misused to injure the rights of individual citizens. Our courts are now committed to exercising supervisory control over law enforcement through the exclusionary theory whereby evidence obtained in violation of certain rules cannot be used in a criminal trial.

Various courts have been roundly criticized for recent decisions which some reviewers say reflect an unjustified and unprecedented concern for the lawbreaker; for illogical, shortsighted judicial policies which in effect legislate new laws to the detriment of society. They have been charged with handcuffing law enforcement by requiring impossible procedures which, it is said, will insure the release of the guilty while destroying the morale of the officer.

In reply, some critics of police declare that unless we have tight, restrictive control of law enforcement, police lawlessness will result. The extremes of both views tend to cloud the fact that the police and the courts should have a common objective: to develop and maintain a system of administering criminal justice which is fair, impartial, and effective. All will agree that this is an exceedingly difficult and complex task.

There is little to be gained from just shouting protests and criticisms, but there is much to be gained from throwing our full resources and energies into training a professional law enforcement corps to be effective within the framework of current rules of law and evidence.

We, as citizens, expect the business and technical segments of our society to keep abreast of the latest developments in their respective areas and to conduct research to foster progress. Our profession, dedicated to the preservation of America's basic freedoms, certainly cannot exempt itself from a similar demand from other citizens. A continuing, comprehensive research and training program, with a conscientious application of the knowledge gained therefrom, is the key to properly discharging our responsibilities to the people and the Nation.

Increased professional police training is no longer a desirable goal, no longer a matter of choice for United States law enforcement. It is an absolute necessity.

Local Girl Gets Teaching Experience

Miss Myrna Masek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie T. Masek, R. R. 4, Antioch, senior at National College of Education, Evanston-Wilmette, Illinois, will be "student teacher" during the fall quarter at National College.

She will have this all-day experience under the supervision of a top teacher at West school in Glenview.

Students preparing for elementary school teaching at National College, a liberal arts school, have one quarter of half-day student teaching in the junior year and one quarter of full-day experience in the senior year. A total of 164 cooperating teachers in 46 fine schools near National College work with the College in this program. Included in the plan are both private and public schools in Chicago and the suburban area, as well as the National College Demonstration Children's School, which comprises nursery and kindergarten through eighth grade.

On that vacation trip you will need to check a road map. Be sure to pull off the road and stop when checking your route or for anything that requires your attention or that might distract you from the full job of driving.

Defensive driving is important at all times. On a vacation trip it is vital! Alertness and the ability to anticipate the actions of other drivers will make your vacation safer.

Santa Claus Gift Bags Planned By Veterans

The American Red Cross is getting an early start on Christmas shopping.

They plan to provide every United States serviceman in Vietnam with a special "Santa Claus gift bag," of bright red or green nylon mesh, containing personal gifts approved by the military authorities.

"Operation Shop Early" offers the entire community an opportunity to do something tangible, in a planned and organized manner, to express gratitude to our fighting men.

Individuals and groups in the community are invited to take part by donating the gifts. A special gift card will carry the name of any person or organization providing the entire contents of one or more gift bags. Estimated cost of the contents is from $2.50 to $3.50 per bag.

Contributed items must be received at chapter headquarters in time for assembly, packing and mailing before October 15.

Each Gift Bag must contain a ballpoint pen, plastic soap dish, terrycloth wash cloth, foot powder, pocket comb, small packet tissues and a paperback book. In addition, each bag may include some or all of the following: small pack writing paper, small address book, plastic cigarette case, lighter, (unfilled), nail clipper, small puzzle or solitaire game, miniature checkers, chess, accey deucey, etc., playing cards, comic or cartoon books, plastic snapshot holders, individual sewing kit, metal mirror, small plastic bags (moisture protection for personal possessions).

Educators To Meet For Discussion at Camp Ross

About 100 school administrators are expected to take part in the 9th annual "Educator's Camp-Out" to be sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose at Mooseheart Camp

Choose Candidate For Associate Judge

Judge John L. Hughes of Waukegan was nominated by acclamation by the Democratic party as their choice for associate judge of Lake County.

His name was placed in nomination by Rep. Daniel Pierce and Rep. Howard Slater, both of Highland Park. Judge Hughes lives at 1001 Sunset Ave. in Waukegan. During his terms of office he initiated the Driver Improvement program at Waukegan Township High School's night school. Another program he began was to sentence guilty youths to perform civic work rather than to simply fine them.

Judge Hughes was elected in 1959 as Waukegan police magistrate and was reelected in 1963 against stiff Republican opposition.

Savings Bonds Sales Up In July

Lake County residents purchased a total of $476,421 in series E and H United States savings bonds in July, according to Philip L. Speidel, Lake Forest, general county chairman of the savings bonds committee.

Sales in the state of Illinois were $31,364,432, according to Arnold J. Rauen, state director of the Treasury Department's savings bond div. This is an increase of 4.8% over sales for last July, and accounts of 7.6% of national sales which were $411,000,000. Illinois purchases in the first seven months of this year reached 61.96% of the annual state quota which is $348,000,000.

Ross, near Mt. Morris, on Sept. 9 and 10.

According to Robert H. Hanke, Assistant Supt. of Mooseheart, who is in charge of the camp-out, the program will begin at 8 p.m., Friday, Sept. 9, with greetings from Ray Page, Supt. of Public Instruction, and Walter H. Ketz, Supt. of Mooseheart.

A panel on "Recent Junior College Development" will follow.

Scheduled for Saturday morning are discussions on "New Trends in Vocational and Technical Education" and "Changes in the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965."

Two sessions are also scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Heading a discussion on "Data Processing for Schools" will be A. R. Evens, Assistant Supt., director of finance and statistics; Donald Norwood, director, statistics; and Lee Langan, supervisor, Data Center, all of the Office of the Supt. of Public Instruction.

The final panel will be on "Interpreting School Law" and will include discussions on the revenue article, task force for education and current legal questions.

Mooseheart Camp Ross is the summer vacation camp for Mooseheart youngsters and is located near White Pines state park.

Good drivers never overload their cars on a vacation trip. Acceleration is slower, stopping distance is longer and the sway on a curve is greater. If you use a car top carrier, make certain that it is well secured and not overloaded.

More emergency cases involving industrial accidents are brought to the 240 bed Alexian Brothers School of Nursing in Chicago than to any other institution in the nation.

Social Notes

By Del Jahneke

The Ken Smouse family are now "at home" after a pleasant vacation trip, during which they managed to combine short visits with both friends and family members, as well as traveling through several nearby states. They were first the guests of the Roy Landis family of Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Landis is a former Antioch Community High School teacher - he now teaches at Drake University.

The Smouses then spent 3 days at Galena, Kansas, with Mrs. Smouse's brother and family - the Reverend and Mrs. Richard Scherpenisse. Next, on the agenda, was a four day visit with Reverend

The Style Show that was held at the Antioch Moose Home Saturday evening, Aug. 27th, was a hilarious and entertaining program. The models, all members of the Loyal Order, gave a good performance in modeling the fashions of women's clothing and really looked the part in their wigs and makeup.

Master of ceremony, Roy Dasko, also a member of the Loyal Order from Antioch, kept the audience laughing with his clever descriptions of the models and his songs were delightful. The show which was scheduled for an hour ran overtime due to the recalls of the audience.

Enrolled as new members for the Loyal Order on Sunday morning, Aug. 28th were, Ronald J. Noble, sponsored by Ben Noble; Bruce Borchardt, by Ed Kurtz; Robert McNeil by Paul Mallory; Arkadij Rossol by Roy Dasko; Michael Phillips by Ed Kurtz; Eugene A. Nelson by Orvil McClure and Bob Morrison by John Van Ogden. A breakfast was served to the new members before the ceremony. The Antioch Ritual Team performed the enrollment ceremony.

Edward Kurtz, custodian of the Antioch Moose Home, was awarded the membership award from Mooseheart for his completing the campaign of the Defending Circle and enrolling 24 members within the limited time granted. The governor, Richard Jorgensen made the presentation to Mr. Kurtz following the enrollment of new members on Sunday morning.

Sonny Arndt, Argus for the Women of the Moose, displayed a decorated table setting at the last meeting held for the W.O.T.M. The display exemplified vacation memories of the Hiawatha Land of upper Michigan. Maps and pictures were set all along Lake Superior made up of sandy roads, running cars and trucks which really look authentic. The Petrified Woods with their wild ferns, drift wood, scattered about and the miniature evergreens was an enchanting scenery as was the rock display with the fool's gold, copper in its original forms, agate and other rocks. The wild scenery with the little animals along the road side, the birds in the trees, the rabbits, cow, dogs, and horses, the Birch bark and the wild Pincherries branches with berries, all of which was cleverly displayed.

and Mrs. Isaac Scherpenisse of Farber, Missouri, Mrs. Smouse's parents.

Steve Smouse stayed a while at the High School Band Camp at Springfield, Illinois, where he participated with the winning ACHS Band in state competition. The Smouse went on to spend several days with Mrs. Wilbur Smouse, Mr. Smouse's mother, at Marseilles, Illinois. Their last reunion with old friends was at the Larry Eggleston home in Mokena, Ill. Mr. Eggleston is also a former ACHS teacher and was Dean of Boys - he is now Principal of the Mokena High School.

A few days were spent in Antioch, "resting up", then they "hit the road" for Summit Lake, Wisconsin, for a week's stay in a most comfortable cabin. One member (?) of the Smouse family does not recall this part of the vacation with any great feeling of enjoyment - their dog, Spooky, had an "encounter" with a porcupine, and definitely came out the loser! But the Smouses were thrilled to see deer, and other wild animals in the forests in that vicinity.

Press Gets a Look At New Fur Fashions

Marvelous mink, sleek sable, and exciting ermine headlined the Press Preview Fur Fashion Show heralding the opening of Harriet's Imperial Fur at the Imperial Mink Ranch, Wadsworth, Tuesday.

Stealing the spotlight in the fantastic array of fur creations was a special shipment from Ritter Brothers, New York furriers for the Duchess of Windsor, the Roosevelt family, Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and other notables. The Ritter collection represented a preview of fall fashions which will not be shown in New York until October thus representing a fashion "scoop" for the unique Wadsworth salon.

The showing was, by far, the most elaborate collection of furs ever presented in northern Illinois with a total retail value estimated at well over a quarter of a million dollars.

The preview at Harriet's was unique in another respect since it is almost unprecedented for rival furriers to display their creations together except in fashion competition or at charity affairs.

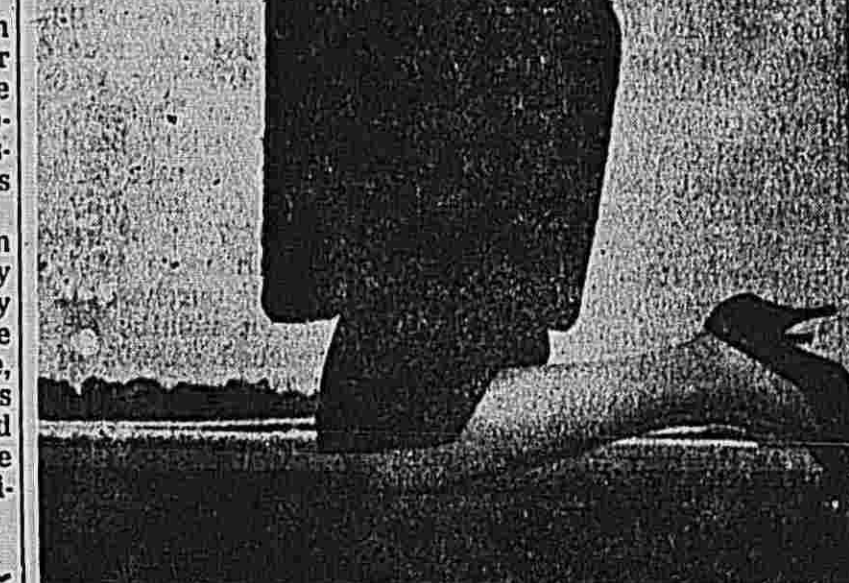

Represented at the press showing in addition to the Ritter collection were originals from Coopchick and Forrest, Christie Brothers, House of Revillon, J. Weinig, Greenhouse Furs, and Dennis Grovener, of Montreal.

The unusual assembly of furs was actually a tribute to Paul Serdar, co-owner with his wife, Harriet, of the fur salon, from the leading furriers in the country.

In addition to heralding the opening of Harriet's Imperial Fur, the press preview was a celebration of the 30th anniversary of the Imperial Mink Ranch which Serdar has developed into one of the world's leading producers of the highly prized light mink.

Cutting short his European vacation to attend the preview was Barry Coward, of New York, head of the far-flung fur operations of the huge Hudson's Bay Co. Other guests included Norman Stapleton, president of National Food Stores; William Wood Prince, president of Armour and Co.; Insurance tycoon Jack Hogan; industrialist and horse fancier Temple Smith, and representatives from the horse racing world, business and politics.

The new shop will be officially open Thursday, Sept. 8, but will close for one day, Tuesday, Sept. 13 when the Auxiliary of the Lake County Medical Society takes over the shop and ranch for a one day luncheon-fashion show.

For casual wear or dress-up occasions, the three-quarter length mink coat, shown here in dark, natural, ranch mink, is a popular addition to any wardrobe because of its versatility.

In addition to becoming the Illinois angling champion, the winner also will qualify to represent the state in the World Series of Fresh Water Fishing at Lake Eufaula, Okla., later next month.

While at the World Series, the Illinois champion will be the guest of the sponsors, Ill. or her traveling expenses to and from the site will be provided by Barney Shumneson, operator of the Channel Lake Boat House, who annually has sponsored the various Illinois fishing meets in singles, Mr. and Mrs. and adult and child.

Anyone 16 years or older, who has a valid 1966 Illinois fishing license, is eligible to compete in the Illinois tournament. Only requirement is that anglers must register in advance before going out on the contest waters at the Channel Lake Boat House

Aqua Center News

The Antioch Aqua Center Club climaxed their "daily swimming workouts" with a party last Thursday night.

The whole team participated in an inner-tube swimming race and a watermelon fight. During the 20 minutes in which the two teams fought the watermelon changed hands many times.

Finally Bob Sedivics' team made a fast get-away with the melon and managed to swim it 33 yds. to the winning goal.

President Don Harper, vice president Bill Hansen, and secretary Bob Sedivics would like to thank the mothers of the Swim Club members, who donated refreshments for the party. They would also like to thank Mr. Corrigan and Mrs. Queen and all those who offered their time in order to make this year's Swim Club a success.

caught, must be weighed, in before 7 p.m. to be counted. Contest fish will be northern pike, walleye, and black bass.

The two anglers with the most points at the end of each day and the five on Saturdays and Sunday during qualifying will gain the finals, accounting for 35 finalists. In addition, last year's champion will be seeded into the finals.

Fishing in both the qualifying and finals will be with live or artificial lures or bait. All angling MUST be done from boats. Trolling with motor, casting or jigging will be allowed.

Additional information about the contest can be obtained by phoning Shumneson at 395-1434.

In 1959 in the United States there were 4,105,000 farms averaging 288 acres in size. Nation's Agriculture reports a continuing trend of fewer but larger farms in America. This year they number 3,286,000 with an average acreage of 350—a 20 per cent decline.

Rifles Blast Chiefs To Hold League Lead

The Lake County Rifles kept their undefeated skein intact last week as they met the Manitowoc Chiefs. They blasted the Chiefs, 41-0 and now wait for their next crucial test with the 1965 league champion Racine Raiders. The Rifles will host the Raiders at Waukegan's Weiss Field next Sunday, September 11, at 6 p.m. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday.

The Rifles amassed 476 yards in crushing the Wisconsin team, 311 of these accrued via the air. Quarterback Lew Flinn teamed up with Jim Bednar for two touchdown aeriels of 30 and 35 yards. Flinn connected for two more on a 12-yarder to Warren Nicholas and another of 40 yards to Ed Schulliss.

The Lake Countians departed from their usual come-from-behind heroics and took command with a first quarter score when halfback Ron Curry rambed eight yards for their first tally. With second quarter counters by Nicholas and Schulliss the Rifles held a 20-0 halftime lead. Flinn, looking his sharpest of the year put two more on the board with Bednar on the receiving end during the third quarter. From the start of the 4th quarter Flinn retired from the game and was replaced by the Rifles new backup quarterback, head coach Gene "Chie" Cichowski. Cichowski quickly demonstrated his passing prowess and delighted Rifle fans as he calmly took his first snap from center, stepped into the pocket and fired a perfect touchdown pass into the waiting hands of Jim Bednar. The magic toe of Wayne Miller found the mark of 6 out of 7 conversions and the Rifles scalped the Chiefs 41-0.

Bill Bodle and Ron Curry provided the running attack for the locals with 72 and 51 yards respectively. The Rifle defense held Manitowoc to 69 yards passing and 171 rushing.

Joe Smith and Walt Isaacson forced two Chief fumbles while Jim Scully and Dick Wolf had two interceptions apiece. Don Schmidt also grabbed off one of Ron Le Muer's wayward tosses.

In the Northern division, the Madison Mustangs dumped Sheboygan 32-6 and also remain in the unbeaten ranks with the Rifles.

honor in the fourth heat.

When the rains came and stopped the races, Jim Cossman had moved to within 5 points of Dennis Burgan in the championship point race.

John Reimer and Jim Cossman came through with truly outstanding performances before a large crowd Sunday night at the Waukegan Speedway. Reimer rode high on the track to capture the fifty lap modified feature. Cossman blazed around the track and set a new qualifying mark of :17.58 early in the evening—and then won a holly contested late model feature.

Jim Cossman had another tremendous night and by defeating Burgan in every event, Jim took over the late model championship point lead. To start out with, Jim shattered Burgan's old qualifying record of :17.63 as he established a :17.85 mark in his Chevy II.

The late model feature was another thrilling event. By the tenth lap, Odell Jones, Cossman, Jack Ester and Burgan were in a close one through four order. Burgan took third on the next lap. The trio raced for several laps in the space of two carlengths as the crowd went wild. Finally with only six laps remaining, Cossman passed Odell on the outside and took over the lead. Jones finished second and Burgan wound up third.

Top Gun to Be Decided at McHenry Club

The McHenry Sportsmen's Club will hold their annual picnic Sunday, September 11th on the club grounds. Members and their families are building up a gargantuan hunger to enable them to devour some 150 aged steaks, charcoal broiled to a turn, and all the trimmings that go with it.

The club trapshooting championship will be on the line as members shoot it out for the coveted Top Gun trophy. Second and third place winners will also receive trophies. Winners in the Lewis class championships will garner valuable prizes for their prowess with the blunder-buss.

The ladies will shoot for the women's championship, with trophies for the top three winners. Closely fought contests are in the offing as the club boasts a good array of dead-eye Annie Oakleys, all of whom will be out to latch on to one of the trophies and establish their place in the standings.

A similar shoot is set for the junior gunners, and they too will get trophies and prizes for demonstrated ability.

Arvid Hamrick, Woodstock, farmer-industrialist, who is chairman in charge of the days activities, reports a schedule of games and activities that will keep the picnickers on the go all day long in order to give away the many prizes he has obtained for the event. Hamrick is club vice president. W. C. "Bud" Franke, Crystal Lake business man, will be the chief steak broker of the day.

Because the annual picnic is held for club members and invited guests only, the traps and grounds will be closed to the public on this day.

The club will inaugurate the Fall shooting season with a Turkey Shoot on Sunday, September 25th, starting at 11 a.m. Visitors are invited to shoot it out with club members on that day.

Bill Provides Tax Credit For Pollution Controls

Congressman Robert McCloy, 12th District of Illinois, has introduced a bill to provide an incentive tax credit for the construction of water and air pollution control facilities, permitting the amortization of the cost of such facilities over a one- to five-year period.

Merit Comm. Holds First Hearing

Two Lake County sheriff's deputies were found guilty of "conduct unbecoming" a police officer, at the first hearing held by the Lake County Sheriff's office Merit Commission last week.

The two deputies were Henry Tuttle and Albert Easton. The charges were made by Sheriff Charles Larson, after Zion Police Chief Lloyd DeTienne complained to Larson that the men had torn down his campaign posters to put up signs for Harold Scheskie. Both DeTienne and Scheskie were running for the Republican nomination for sheriff at the time.

Tuttle and Easton denied that they had torn down the campaign posters.

The Commission also ruled that Sheriff Larson was within his rights in handing out a 20-day suspension to the men. The suspension has already been served and the deputies reinstated.

Local Banker Attends Two-Week Session

Richard J. Daniel, State Bank of Antioch, was among the 1,305 students from 39 states, Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico and Central America who attended the annual two-week residence session of the Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin in Madison from Aug. 15 to 27.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers association of 16 states, requires attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation.

The legislation is designed to encourage American industry to build pollution control facilities by giving a 20 per cent tax credit for such investments. Certification for the tax benefit is to be given by the state pollution control authority in compliance with state and federal program requirements and regulations.

In discussing his bill, McCloy said: "Urgent problems demand immediate and responsible solutions. . . . There is already legislation, state and federal, to compel the solution of water and air pollution problems. What is needed is legislation to encourage American industry to act now in the abatement of pollution, rather than to be forced to do so at a later date."

"This legislation should stimulate the interest of American industry in the construction of non-productive facilities. Under my bill, even the largest industry could begin immediate construction of pollution abatement facilities at a net cost far below the actual cost. This results from the tax credit provisions. I believe this bill to be not only a responsive, but also a responsible, solution to the problems of water and air pollution—a solution which can capture the imagination and economic prowess of Americana industry."

HOW TO SUNBATHE SAFELY

Years ago, fashionable women went out of their way to protect their skin from the sun—from wearing broad-rimmed hats to carrying parasols. The pale delicate skin color was definitely vogue.

Today the picture is reversed. Women now go to extremes—to turn that pale skin tone into a deep bronze—even to the point of damaging their skin.

Not only can continued overexposure to the sun make the skin dry, leathery and wrinkled, but it also can cause freckling and brown spots, especially if you're middle-aged. The biggest danger, however, is skin cancer.

"The evidence is clear that chronic exposure to sunlight can be a major factor in the production of precancerous and cancerous conditions of the skin," warns the American Medical Association.

However, if you're sensible about achieving a tan, don't be alarmed about getting skin cancer. "Limited" exposure to the sun can be quite safe and pleasant. Just don't overdo it.

First of all, restrict your exposure to 15 minutes a day for a starter. Then gradually increase exposure by five minutes each day.

If possible, sunbathe in the morning or late afternoon when the sun's ultraviolet rays are slanted through the atmosphere, blocking some of the injurious wave lengths.

Suntan lotions will probably help you acquire a tan, especially if they contain a sunscreening agent. If your skin is dry, use an oily or cream lotion. If it's oily, an alcoholic lotion is more effective. But remember: no suntan product can filter out ALL the sun's rays, so don't rely on them for complete protection from sunburn.

Since it takes days for natural tanning to reach its peak, be patient. Once you have acquired it, avoid sitting in the sun for hours at any one time. Although the increased pigmentation in your skin may protect you from sunburn, the sun's rays can still injure your skin.

If, despite these preventive measures, you still encounter a slight burn, here's how to treat it:

"Bathe the skin in cool to lukewarm water containing a cup of cornstarch, oatmeal powder or bran.

"Apply an oily lotion to the burned area after bathing. A mixture of olive oil and milk of magnesia is quite effective. Baking soda and water is another soothing solution.

"Leave the skin uncovered and avoid any friction on the burned area.

"Consult your physician if the skin becomes swollen and blistered. Sunburn can be just as serious and painful as a burn from a red hot grill.

PARENTS: BEWARE OF PLANT POISONING

Every year over 12,000 children in the United States are poisoned from eating deadly plants.

Actually, the number of victims who suffer serious illness and even death from poisonous plants could be much higher. For, among the 250,000 plant species that can be deadly to man, the average homeowner has eight or nine of them right in his own backyard!

Some of the plants are so common and seemingly innocent, you would never suspect their toxic qualities.

Whoever would suspect, for example, that the beautiful oleander evergreen shrub—grown indoors as well as outdoors—contains a deadly heart poison. A toxin so deadly that a single leaf could kill a child.

Any part of the lily-of-the-valley and the rhododendron can kill too. So can the leaves and roots of ivy.

The greatest threat to children, however, is poisonous plants with small attractive berries. One of the most deadly—the nightshade bush —contains clusters of poisonous berries that grow abundantly in vacant lots and frequently in backyards.

Another berry bush found in backyards is the daphne mezereum. In the spring this plant has white or purple flowers that are soon replaced by small red or yellow berries. It only takes a few of these berries, which contain an extremely corrosive poison, to cause a fatal reaction in a child.

Of course, plant poisoning isn't restricted to children. Adults encounter it too, especially from plants that, for the most part, are good to eat.

Take rhubarb, for example. While its stalk is not toxic, its leaves contain oxalic acid which—if cooked with the stalk—may cause severe kidney damage.

Two of our most popular vegetable plants, the potato and tomato, are also potentially harmful. Although the tomato fruit and the potato tuber are quite harmless, the foliage and vines of both these plants contain alkaloid poison; a poison which could cause severe digestive upset and serious nervous disorders.

Safeguard your family from these and other potentially dangerous plants. The next time you prepare foods picked from the garden, wash them thoroughly and remove all leaves and foliage carefully before cooking.
